Online Newsletter is Latest Free GD&T Resource from ETI

Westland, Michigan — (Mar 15) - Effective Training Inc. (ETI) has begun publishing ETImail, an online geometric dimensioning and tolerancing (GD&T) newsletter. The regular online publication features a host of GD&T resources and links. Each issue also includes a tolerancing-related article and dimensioning tips by noted GD&T author and ETI founder, Alex Krulikowski.

The online newsletter is the latest in a series of free resources being offered by ETI through their website: etinews.com. Other resources include a discussion board about GD&T and the ASME Standard, a tip of the month, a variety of tech papers, a technical calendar of events, and the digital tolerancing forum (a network for sharing ideas and information on the uses of digital tolerance information).

To receive notification of each new ETImail issue, log onto the website and subscribe. Archives of past issues are also available on the site.

Effective Training, Inc. is a world leader in the field of geometric dimensioning and tolerancing, having sold more than 100,000 books, CD-ROMS, videos and other training materials worldwide.
